DETAILS:

This investigation is predicated upon a letter from the Honorable BRIAN S. ODEM, United States Attorney for the Southern District of Texas, Houston, Texas, dated January 30, 1948, requesting that an investigation be conducted as to the civil suits filed against the United States Government arising out of the Texas City Disaster which occurred on April 16, 17, 1947.

INTRODUCTION

As set forth in the report of Special Agent JAMES A. FINLEY, dated April 24, 1948 at Houston, Texas in case entitled THE TEXAS CITY TERMINAL RAILWAY COMPANY -vs- UNITED STATES, CIVIL DOCKET #CA-335, UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS; FEDERAL TORT CLAIMS ACT, at 9:12 A.M. on April 16, 1947, the SS Grandcamp, a vessel of French registry, which was moored at Pier "O" at Texas City, Texas, exploded causing widespread destruction and loss of life. This vessel was being loaded with Fertilizer Grade Ammonium Nitrate (hereinafter referred to as FGAN) and at the time of the explosion approximately 2,300 tons of FGAN had been loaded into Holds Two and Four. It is this material which allegedly exploded at Texas City.

At approximately 8:00 A.M. on April 16, 1947, nineteen longshoremen boarded the SS Grandcamp and opened the hatches at which time no fire was noted. About ten minutes later, smoke was discovered in the No. Four deep hold. Efforts were made by the longshoremen to extinguish the fire with jugs of drinking water without success and the longshoremen called for a fire hose to be lowered into the hold. This was done but before water was applied to the blaze, orders were issued to remove the hose, batten the hatches, and apply steam to the hold in an attempt to smother the blaze and avoid cargo damage. The longshoremen were ordered off the ship and the Texas City Fire Department was summoned for the purpose of extinguishing the fire. The fire steadily increased in intensity and, as mentioned above, the ship exploded at approximately 9:12 A.M. on April 16, 1947.

The SS High Flyer, a vessel of American registry owned by Lykes Brothers Steamship Company, was also moored in the immediate vicinity, and this ship contained a cargo of approximately 960 tons of FGAN in Hold No. 3. Other materials, including sulphur, were also loaded aboard the SS High Flyer. After the explosion of the SS Grandcamp, which blew away the hatch covers of the SS High Flyer, no fire was observed aboard the latter ship for several hours. The SS High Flyer exploded at approximately 1:10 A.M. on April 17, 1947 with little loss of life but great property damage.

Investigation has shown that the FGAN involved at Texas City was manufactured at United States Government facilities of the Nebraska Ordnance Plant, Fremont, Nebraska; Cornhusker Ordnance Plant, Grand Island, Nebraska; and Iowa Ordnance Plant, Burlington, Iowa, all operated by the Emergency Export Corporation, a subsidiary of the Spencer Chemical Company, Kansas City, Missouri, on a cost-plus contract with the United States Government. The FGAN was being manufactured for the Government which sold it to Lion Oil Company, Eldorado, Arkansas, in accordance with the provisions of a replacement contract entered into in July, 1946. Shipment of the material was on Government Bills of Lading from the respective Ordnance Plants to Texas City. A sales contract existed between the Lion Oil Company and the Walsen Consolidated Mercantile Company, New York City, through which the latter company sought to acquire title to the FGAN on behalf of the French Supply Council. Technical examinations of control samples of the FGAN involved in the explosion at Texas City have shown that the material conformed to specifications with very minor deviations.

INITIAL LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

The records of the United States District Court Clerk's Office, Galveston, Texas, reflect that Civil Action No. 661 was filed on March 26, 1948 in United States District Court, Southern District of Texas, by Plaintiffs, as listed below, in their own behalf and also as trustee for the use and benefit of their pledgees and cestui que trust insurer, The Home Insurance Company, against the United States for property damages of $130,892.47 as a result of the fires and explosions at Texas City, Texas on April 16,17, 1947.

The Plaintiffs, together with the location of their property, and the extent of alleged damage to each, are as follows:

1. Summary of Plaintiffs' Petition:

The petition of Plaintiffs is being summarized briefly with reference to the paragraphs in the order given:

- Paragraph I. Each Plaintiff was, as of April 16, 1947, the owner, holder, possessor and occupier of all property listed, of whatever class, which was as of the above date located in Galveston County, Texas.
- Paragraph II. Plaintiffs charge that a large and multiple number of Defendant's negligent acts and omissions and wrongful acts occurred singly, jointly and in sequence within the Galveston Division of the Southern District of Texas, and Plaintiffs bring this action under the Federal Tort Claims Act, 28 USCA 921 in this district because of the Court's jurisdiction.
- Paragraph III. Plaintiffs charge as a proximate result of an explosion on the SS Grandcamp on April 16, 1947 and subsequent fires and explosions, Plaintiffs' property was generally damaged or destroyed to the extent set forth on the schedule.
- Paragraph IV. Plaintiffs allege the fire and explosion originated in a cargo of explosive and dangerous materials being loaded on the SS Grandcamp, namely, ammonium nitrate.
- Paragraph V. Plaintiffs assert this material on the SS Grandcamp, in warehouses at Texas City and in adjacent boxcars, was a highly dangerous and inherently dangerous explosive manufactured by the Defendant, its agents, servants, representatives, and employees at the Cornhusker Ordnance Plant, Nebraska Ordnance Plant, and Iowa Ordnance Plant. Plaintiffs assert the manufacture, processing, testing, preparing, sacking and shipping of the ammonium nitrate was in the direct, sole and exclusive control of Defendant; and that Defendant was negligent in each and all of the operations but inasmuch as Defendant was in sole direct control, Plaintiffs are unable to allege with particularity those negligent acts and omissions of which the Defendant is guilty. Plaintiffs allege that failure of the Defendant to adopt methods, etc., such as a reasonably prudent man would have adopted proximately caused the Plaintiffs' damages. By reason thereof, Plaintiffs state that the rule of res ipsa loquitur should be applied.
- Paragraph VI. Plaintiffs, in the alternative to Paragraph V., charge Defendant with the manufacture, storage, processing assembling, sacking, and shipping of ammonium nitrate and additional elements added thereto, resulting in the ammonium nitrate shipped to Texas City becoming a highly dangerous explosive and instrumentality and material, the characteristics of which Defendant knew or should have known by exercise of due diligence to be inherently dangerous to people dealing with same. Because of this, Plaintiffs charge Defendant is absolutely liable to Plaintiffs for all their damages. Plaintiffs charge this material was placed by Defendant in proximity of Plaintiffs' property knowingly and wilfully by Defendant, its agents, servants, etc. Plaintiffs contend that the explosions and fire at Texas City were of such magnitude as to amount to a national disaster worthy of judicial notice.

Paragraph VII. Plaintiffs notify Defendant they will not be confined to specific acts of negligence hereinafter alternatively charge, but expect to rely also on the general allegations of fire, explosion, negligence, defectiveness and neglect as well as res ipsa loquitur.

Paragraph VIII. Plaintiffs allege their damages proximately flowed from and were caused by the negligent and wrongful acts and omissions of Defendant as follows:

1. Manufacturing under the direction of the Commanding Officer of the U. S. Army Ordnance Department and his superiors and subordinates, etc., excess military liquid ammonium nitrate into so-called commercial fertilizer by graining such liquid ammonium nitrate and introducing a wax of petroleum, rosin, and paraffin, and an inert material known as kaolin, resulting in a highly combustible, unstable explosive and inherently dangerous material. Plaintiffs charge Defendants with knowledge such material would be handled by persons not informed of the nature of the material.
2. Defendant, its agents, etc., shipped via common carrier this material with knowledge that it would be handled by uninformed persons, and that Defendant knew or should have known by the exercise of due care that ammonium nitrate grained from surplus military supplies was inherently dangerous.
3. Wilfully and knowingly introducing into the proximity of people and property this dangerous commodity without having tested and determined the inherently dangerous characteristics such as a reasonably prudent operator would have done.

4. Knowingly and wilfully selecting Texas City, Texas as an export point, knowing of the presence of concentrated industrial facilities.
5. Failure to give notice as to the nature of the dangerous material to persons handling same, as well as special instructions as to the most approved method of controlling fires and explosions.
6. Failure to post special guards to supervise loading and unloading.
7. Failure to post guards and other persons who understood fire control methods as to ammonium nitrate.
8. Failure to promulgate regulations isolating points of export from heavily developed commercial areas.
9. Failure to post watchmen and guards to control loading and unloading of ammonium nitrate from boxcars to warehouses to ships on April 16, 17, 1947.
10. Failure to have a tug available to move ships in event of fire or explosion.
11. Failure to take steps as a reasonably prudent shipper to determine that docks and ships were equipped with necessary knowledge and firefighting equipment to meet all possibilities.
12. Creating a common nuisance by shipping an inherently dangerous material into Texas City.
13. Knowingly and wilfully making shipments of ammonium nitrate to Texas City without first determining that adequate knowledge and equipment for fire control, etc., were available.
14. Failing to exercise the degree of care commensurate with the risk and danger naturally expected to arise in shipping ammonium nitrate to Texas City.
15. Wilfully mislabeling as "Fertilizer".
16. Failure to issue specific instructions in event of fire or explosion within the area or the material itself.

17. Bagging FGAN at temperatures not less than 200° F. in paper bags laminated with asphalt, itself a highly combustible material.
18. Packaging ammonium nitrate in paper bags with asphalt laminated layers which in common knowledge permitted increased combustion and explosibility.
19. Failing through research division of the U. S. Government to determine by reasonable diligence the inherently dangerous characteristics of ammonium nitrate grained into fertilizer.
20. Failing to act as a reasonably prudent operator would have done through the Interstate Commerce Commission in being advised of advances of science respecting proper methods of packaging and labeling ammonium nitrate.
21. Failure to give warning of the explosive nature of ammonium nitrate to persons handling same or in vicinity thereof, including Plaintiffs.
22. Ordering, directing, permitting, and acquiescing in the large concentration of approximately 2,300 tons of ammonium nitrate at Texas City.
23. Knowingly, purposely, and wilfully through the Ordnance Department shipping via common carrier the ammonium nitrate at Texas City, knowing such material was explosive and dangerous, and yet so delivering such material under false and deceptive markings and falsely giving an invoice and shipping order without informing as to the true character of the material prior to delivery to the common carriers in violation of Title 18, Sec. 385, USCA.
24. Knowingly tendering through the Ordnance Department under Government Bill of Lading for shipment by rail a dangerous material described as fertilizer in violation of Section 417 of Interstate Commerce Commission regulations.
25. Knowingly violating Sec. 146.05 (a) (b) (c) of U. S. Coast Guard regulations on "Explosives and Other Dangerous Articles on Board Vessels" by tendering such ammonium nitrate for shipment with knowledge it was to be exported on ships at Texas City without ascertaining the ships had been notified of the characteristics of the shipment.

26. Knowingly continuing a dangerous and obsolete manufacturing process which had been abandoned by foreign manufacturers.
27. Wilfully continuing to use asphalt laminated paper bags to package this dangerous material after foreign manufacturers had abandoned this method in favor of metal or wooden barrels.
28. Permitting loading of SS High Flyer with ammonium nitrate, knowing this vessel could not be moved under its own power, and by so loading and causing the ammonium nitrate to be confined in the hold of said ship, tending to speed up and enlarge the explosive and inherently dangerous character of said material.
29. Permitting loading of SS High Flyer with ammonium nitrate, knowing the harbor area at Texas City to be congested with industrial facilities with careless and reckless disregard for safety and protection of life and property.
30. Failure to give proper notice and warning of the inherently dangerous character of the material despite Defendant's knowledge from war experience. Charges that during 1942 or 1943 Defendant sought and received a memorandum setting forth characteristics of such material and how to control and use same.
31. Charges that on April 16, 17, 1947, Defendant controlled, regulated, supervised, and governed the harbor area and had the nondelegable duty to establish and supervise regulations for safe and proper transportation, unloading, storage, and stowing aboard ship of inherently dangerous material and Defendant failed to discharge such duty.
32. Failure to enforce and apply the provisions of Sec. 170, Title 46, USCA.
33. Failure to comply with Sec. 39, 40 of Title 46, USCA, which Plaintiffs charge constitutes negligence as a matter of law.

Plaintiffs charge that if any of the above acts and omissions be less than negligence, they then charge each act to be a wrongful act or omission, and that each was committed within the scope of employment of each employee, servant, agent or representative of Defendant.

Paragraph IX. Plaintiffs allege injuries and damages to property as set forth in the schedule are the direct and proximate result of negligent acts and omissions of Defendant.

Paragraph X. Plaintiffs reserve rights to file claims against joint and/or several tort-feasors subject only to admiralty jurisdiction of the court.

2. Summary of Government's Answer:

On May 26, 1948, the Government's answer was filed by BRIAN S. ODEM, United States Attorney for the Southern District of Texas, and GEORGE O'BRIEN JOHN, Special Assistant to the Attorney General, which is summarized briefly as follows:

- First defense: Plea for more definite statement.
- Second defense: Motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim.
- Third defense: Motion to dismiss on grounds of failure to show that the laws of the place where the alleged acts of negligence and omissions occurred would permit recovery, and failure to show where such acts occurred and identity of persons committing them.
- Fourth defense: Motion to dismiss on grounds action brought in wrong district because Plaintiffs are not residents of this district and acts complained of did not occur in this district.
- Fifth defense: Plaintiffs are not real parties in interest.
- Sixth defense: Answer on merits:
- I. Defendant is without knowledge to form a belief as to truth of Paragraph I of petition and therefore denies all allegations. Specifically denies Plaintiffs were damaged in the amounts claimed.
 - II. General denial of all allegations of Paragraph II. Specific denial of negligence, wrongful acts or negligence.
 - III. General denial of allegations in Paragraph III. Specific denial Plaintiffs damaged in amounts claimed.
 - IV. General denial of allegations in Paragraph IV. Specific denial material loaded on SS Grandcamp was ammonium nitrate and that it was explosive and dangerous material.
 - V. General denial of all allegations of Paragraph V of petition. Specific denial material loaded on SS Grandcamp was ammonium nitrate, that such material is inherently dangerous, and that rule of res ipsa loquitur is applicable.

- VI. General denial of all allegations in Paragraph VI of petition.
- VII. No answer required as to Paragraph VII; however, Defendant gives notice it will object to introduction of evidence as to any act or omission not specially pleaded.
- VIII. General denial of all allegations of Paragraph VIII of petition.
- IX. General denial as to Paragraph IX. Specific denial Plaintiffs were damaged in amount claimed.
- X. No answer required as to Paragraph X of petition; however, Defendant waives no right to require Plaintiffs to assert each claim to recovery. Specifically denies Defendant is a tort-feasor subject to any jurisdiction, admiralty, or otherwise of this Court.

Seventh defense: Denial that acts of negligence or omissions on the part of Defendant's officers, agents, employees or servants occurred, but that if same did occur, such acts were performed while exercising due care; or in the alternative said claim is exempt from operation of the Federal Tort Claims Act because such acts were performed in exercise of discretionary functions or duties.

Eighth defense: Denial that any act of negligence or omission occurred, but if any such act did occur and constituted negligence, it was not the proximate cause of the alleged damage.

Ninth defense: Alleged damages were the result of unavoidable accident.

Tenth defense: Denial that any acts of negligence or omissions on the part of Defendant's officers, agents, etc., occurred but that if such acts did occur, they were not the proximate cause of the alleged injury. Alleges intervening acts of negligence on the part of others which were the direct, sole, exclusive and proximate cause of the fire and explosion aboard the SS Grandcamp and resulting damage, as follows:

A. Republic of France or the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique through their agents, employees, officers and servants:

The answer alleges that the above acts of negligence constituted new and independent causes which could not be reasonably foreseen by the Defendant and that even though the Defendant was guilty of acts of negligence, which is denied, such acts were not the direct or proximate cause of Plaintiff's damage but were remote acts totally unconnected with the acts of negligence of the parties alleged above.

Eleventh defense: Specific denials that: material loaded in hold of SS Grandcamp was ammonium nitrate; that it was inherently dangerous; that Defendant had any species of control over said material at time of explosions; and that the material was surplus military supplies.

Details: Civil Action No. 661 was filed by Attorneys
AUSTIN Y. BRYAN, JR. and DAVID BLAND, State
National Building, Houston, Texas, in U. S.
District Court, Southern District of Texas,
Galveston Division. The complaint alleges that this suit is brought by the plaintiffs set forth in the title of this report in their own behalf and for the use and benefit of their cestui que trust insurer, the HOME INSURANCE COMPANY, for property damages totaling $130,892.47

COURT ACTION

This civil action was filed by Attorneys AUSTIN Y. BRYAN, JR., and DAVID BLAND, State National Bank Building, Houston, Texas, in United States District Court, Southern District of Texas, Galveston Division as a result of property damage caused by the fires and explosions at Texas City, Texas, on April 16-17, 1947.

The petition alleges that each Plaintiff listed in the title of this case sues in his own behalf and for the use and benefit of the cestui que trust insurer having insurance coverage on the property described hereinafter. The petition alleges thirty-three acts of negligence, omissions, or wilful acts on the part of the agents, officers, servants and employees of the United States Government in manufacturing, packaging, transporting and shipping by common carrier to the Port of Texas City, Texas, Fertilizer Grade Ammonium Nitrate with knowledge, or reason to have knowledge, that such material had explosive and inherently dangerous characteristics. In those cases where an answer has been filed by the Government to date, the answer asserts general and special denials as to the specific acts alleged.

By order of Federal Judge T. M. KENNERLY, United States District Court, Southern District of Texas, this case was consolidated with other tort cases arising out of the Texas City Disaster for trial on the sole issue of Government liability. Following trial to determine the matter of liability, on May 4, 1950, Judge KENNERLY entered his formal judgment in which he found the Government liable. Notice of Appeal was filed immediately thereafter by Government counsel, and as of the date of this report, the appeal is being perfected to be argued before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Fifth Circuit, New Orleans, Louisiana.

DAMAGES

Immediately following the first explosion, Mayor J. C. TRAHAN of Texas City, Texas, assumed charge of the area as the ranking civilian authority. Among other functions performed by his office was the initiation of a procedure by which a determination could be made of the magnitude of damage in the disaster area. To assist in this project he enlisted a group of individuals chosen for their special qualifications and local availability, to assemble for him such information on the subject as could be quickly obtained. The group was formed into a working organization headed by Mr. SAM MAAS, Assistant Design Engineer with the Pan American Refining Corporation, and a member of the Planning Board of the City of Texas City. Under the direction of Mr. MAAS this group, among other things, prepared estimates of the losses sustained by the community in respect to the demolition or partial damage to physical property. After the above group had completed its work, Mr. W. V. BURNELL, Vice-President of the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation, was called in by the Mayor to review the work done by this group. Following this review Mr. BURNELL wrote:

"Each member of the group, in my judgment, has performed his task conscientiously and competently under conditions of great stress and personal sacrifice. Exact estimates under such conditions cannot reasonably be expected. In some instances no estimates whatsoever were available. On the whole, however, I believe that the figures submitted are worthy of acceptance as a basis for a broad judgment as to the dollar losses which were inflicted upon the community in the way of damage to physical property,"

On July 12, 1950, Special Agents JAMES A. FINLEY and WILLARD BDONE interviewed Attorney DAVID BLAND relative to the extent of cooperation which might be expected from his firm in connection with the investigation being conducted into Federal Tort Claims Act cases filed as a result of the Texas City Explosion. Mr. BLAND advised that the files of his office and the files of the insurance companies represented by his firm contained documentary evidence which he felt to be adequate to establish the validity and extent of damage of each claim. He stated, however, that his firm took the position that unless the Government was willing to enter into certain agreements relating to the settlement of these cases by compromise or stipulation within six months after his firm extended its cooperation, his firm did not propose to make any information available to the Government except through the normal processes of the Court. This information was furnished to United States Attorney BRIAN S. ODEM on July 13, 1950, and the latter suggested that no investigation be conducted at that time in cases in which the firm of BRYAN & BLAND was indicated to be attorney of record.

On December 5, 1950, this matter was again discussed with United States Attorney BRIAN S. ODEM, and by letter dated December 7, 1950, he suggested that the firm of BRYAN & BLAND be contacted to determine if the firm's attitude toward this investigation had been modified in any respect, and in the event the firm's position remained unchanged to place all cases affected in a dormant status.

On December 29, 1950, Special Agent JAMES A. FINLEY interviewed AUSTIN Y. BRYAN, JR., who advised that the attitude of his firm remained unchanged.

On December 20, 1950, [redacted] was brought to the attention of Mr. ODEM, and he suggested that this information be incorporated in a report, and that no further action be taken until such time as further information is received from the firm of BRYAN & BLAND.
